YBT's aim is to explore and develop the actor's creativity and imagination while building presence and self esteem through performance in front of peers and general audiences. We do this through collective & individual improvisation, vocal exercises & stage movement to free up voice and body, character creation and scene work. We play with objectives, overcoming obstacles and taking risks and enjoying ourselves in the process.

WORKSHOPS FOR LYCEENS

Taking from classics and contemporary theater, we'll explore character development within scenes and monologues study. The class will begin with group warm ups, vocalizing and freeing up students to listen and react spontaneously to create real connections in collaborative dramatic/comedic work.

In the 90 minute class, we will have time to refer to contemporary texts as well as focus on a theme born from improvisations, develop and write a text to present for audience.
